Country Data

On this page you can find the results of the Global Right to Information Rating. The scores are organised by category. You can reorder the table to sort countries by name, by the date their RTI law was first passed or by their score on a particular category by clicking on the blue row at the top.

For an indicator-by-indicator breakdown of a country's score, click on the country's name. You can also click on the far right column for an excel sheet with that country's results.

You can also view the country results by category here.

The International RTI Rating assesses each legal framework according to 61 indicators. You can view the country results by indicator here.
